“The insights from Danielle’s research and her counsel have been invaluable in helping us not only define the event itself, but in thinking about what helps or hinders our approach, always with outcomes and impact at the forefront of her guidance. It was a pleasure to have Danielle host our Women in Leadership event.”

Carly Little, General Manager of People, Safety & Sustainability at Workwear Group

“Thank you for your thought provoking keynote, during the Junior Chamber International Australia, National Convention. Your passion, knowledge and delivery were exceptional for our members. It is always fabulous to listen to a meaningful keynote, but truly memorable to witness the audience relate and engage. Thank you once again Danielle, keep doing great work!”

Sarah Lisle Manager, Research Entities, University of Wollongong

“Danielle is warm and engaging and her personal story allows us to look inside ourselves to discover our own code.”

Peter Kellaway, Senior Project Manager Building, Wollongong City Council

“It was a different way to look at leveraging what we already have, rather than thinking we need to spend time on a totally new skill set. It was very encouraging as it made me realise it is more achievable than I originally thought.”

Ellie Smith, Convenor, CPA Women in Business

“Danielle presents from a position of authority with her wealth of experience in business and as a mother. Brimming with positivity, she really expresses her passion for breaking the Gender Code

Tony Holmwood, Infor EAM Consultant, Infrastructure Nation Pty Ltd

“Loved Danielle’s presentation. Powerful and insightful. Important to help consider how the Gender Code affects me but how I can change it too.”

Joanna Kemp, Team Leader, Aftercare

“Danielle’s warmth, passion and knowledge is outstanding. She challenges everyone to rethink their own code and grow.”

Jaqui Lane, Business book Author & Founder, The Book Advisor

“It was a really outstanding presentation and a great topic.”

Monica Parkin, Author/Keynote Speaker/Podcast Host/Director of Community Engagement

“Danielle is leading the charge for women in leadership through empowering conversations...[with] the wisdom, knowledge and passion to create a new environment for women in business. Her ability to naturally interact with the audience and draw on real stories opens up the discussions that need to keep happening. From her link to her mum moment to stories she shared she was engaging, informative and a perfect choice for audiences with any background and experience.

The feedback from this session was outstanding with the women in the group inspired and encouraged to take the learning and break the gender code. Personally, I have not been able to put her book down. Reading it has meant that a lightbulb in my heart and mind has been turned on.

I highly recommend Danielle as a speaker, a facilitator, for online and in person events. Bravo Danielle on everything that you are doing. Your book will remain front and centre on my bookshelf.

Mia Maze, Marketing & Communications Boss, She's The Boss

“Danielle Dobson is an authentic, inspiring and talented leader, speaker and facilitator who exhibits the qualities of a true change agent. Her intellect, communication style and insights influence teams and individuals who have the opportunity to hear her speak, or who participate in her powerful programs.

Danielle’s passion is driven by her deeply held values, skills and expertise in finance, research, interpersonal relationships, coaching and speaking. She has a unique ability to educate and empower others to challenge the status quo and join forces to analyse, understand, design and build diverse, inclusive and high performing workplaces (with results reflected in ROI).

She engages the most powerful conversations and processes that motivate positive change.
